Comments: As a lifelong resident of Colorado and an avid outdoorsman I believe there are opportunities for all of us in our forests. I'm a hiker, a camper, a mountain biker and a dirt bike rider as well. I appreciate and enjoy all of these activities and I know full well there is room for everyone. With our trails constantly under attack usually by special interests that don't ever frequent these areas I can believe there is opportunity for us all. Ohv users contribute a tremendous amount to our small town economies, do we want to ignore this? If given the opportunity ohv clubs are more than willing to take on maintaining and repairing trails as well as policing them along side government officials
