Hello,

My family and I enjoy both leisure activities of dirt biking and mountain biking. We are grateful for the opportunities of enjoying both in our beautiful back yard. With mountain biking we tend to stay on mountain bike specific trails. These tend to be tighter and more of a low speed difficulty.

I understand that a percentage of the mountain biker population wish to make trails only available to non motorized. I do however believe that trails can be shared. Riders of specific abilities can ride trails tailored to them.

I know many motorcycle riders that clear trails with chainsaws making them accessible for everyone. As well, we pay our yearly dues being registered to ride trails. Motorcycles are already limited to more areas than mountain bikes are.

I believe there should be a mutual respect for both motorized and non motorized. I don't believe motorized should be restricted any more than it already is. In fact, I feel mor trails need to be opened for motorized.

Again, coming from a family that enjoys both leisure activities.

Respectfully

Michael Burch
