Comments: I find it difficult in the extreme to believe that any agency in this country is promoting continued exploitation of fossil fuels.

There overwhelming evidence that this policy could be responsible for untold human suffering, devastation of wildlife, and total disruption of the human food chain. In this case, it also desecrates land that should be held in the public trust for as long as the sun shines on the Earth, and as long as there is air that is breathable.

I don't understand how anyone could possibly allow their name to be associated with the legacy of this immense threat to the planet.

Thank you for you consideration.
