Comments: To whomever this may concern,

I have been recreating in the Ruby Mountains since I was a child and have always relished the wide open and undeveloped spaces. This area, like all wilderness, is a fragile environment and opening up this land to mining and oil development is sure to contaminate groundwater and degrade the ecosystem. Please keep the Ruby Mountains raw and rugged and do not allow the land to be exploited for profit. There has already been enough land exploited in the state of Nevada, do not allow the Ruby's to be ruined.

Sincerely,

-Noah Reynolds
