Comments: The Ruby Mountains are one of the most incredible wonders not only in Nevada, but in all of the United States. The Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management are failing to protect and conserve public lands for the good of the people of these United States. You are acting in the interest of a few billion-dollar corporate entities. Much of the oil and now natural gas produced in the US is being sold to other countries. It needs to stop before we have no wilderness left in this country.
