Comments: I think the idea of a paved parking area is very smart, given the volume of cars that park there at any given time. Having a couple spaces reserved for emergency vehicles is also a great idea. On busy days, the area can get "clogged" with cars, making it difficult or even impossible to get an emergency vehicle in and/or out. Having marked spaces is also good in that each vehicle must park in one space. With no spaces now, some vehicles park any which way or take up what could be two or more spaces.
