Comments: I had the pleasure of visiting this beautiful wilderness area while visiting friends in Colorado. One of the pleasures of traveling throughout the US is having dedicated natural environments. These areas inspire and awe as well as offer a respite from the populated areas. Motorized and bicycle vehicle so be restricted and kept as natural as possible. Gran Mesa and other wilderness areas must be protected not only for the residents living in the area but for all of us that look to travel and enjoy nature at it's best.
