Comments: Dear Brett,

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the Early Successional habitat creation project. I appreciate that you are providing opportunities to comment on this project and my comments are you are part of a professional organization and your organization knows what the right thing to do is. You are educated in forest management and you know how important it is to manage our forests. I appreciate people can comment on this, along with most every government/city funded project but I would prefer we, as the general public, don't. I would prefer to have an explanation of why a project is taking place and we as the public trust the people who have more information and knowledge of why the project is taking place is occurring. I completely support forest management and I certainly appreciate how vitally important early successional habitat is to wildlife and the health of our forests. Please don't let public comments stand in the way of doing what the forest service knows is vitally important to the health of our forests. I appreciate the opportunity to comment on this project but as previously noted I would prefer public comment was not taken. I would prefer we all trusted the good judgement of people making decisions with facts versus feelings and opinions. Thank you for all you do. I absolutely love the outdoors and I certainly appreciate how extremely important early successional habitat is to our forests and wildlife. I certainly am in complete agreement with the plan that has been submitted and I sure hope this gets completed.
