Comments: I am also a citizen of Crested Butte, including owning property in the townsite of Pittsburg which is an inholding in the Gunnison National Forest 9 miles from Crested Butte. I fully support any and all efforts and planning to preserve the land, plan ahead for the effects of climate change as much as we can, and understand that we need to see accept human limits. I am very concerned about the creep of snowmobiles into every corner of the backcountry. I am very concerned about the effects of unmanaged camping, and applaud the recent work of the Forest Service around Crested Butte to get ahead of that curve - more management of camping will be needed., in part because the fire danger is only going up as the climate changes. It is time to be prudent, conservative with land use, not expanding human activity everywhere, and imagining a time when the population of Colorado is not exploding like it is now. Water limits will stop that. Thank you for your work.
