Comments: I was injured in a skiing accident as a young man. I was paralyzed from the waste down. I use both highway 108 and 4 to access high country mountain terrain. I can only use a snowmobile to get into the mountains. Sometimes when the snow conditions are right I can get onto the ridgelines and see for miles in all directions. It makes me happy and I feel free.

I feel people like me are discriminated against. I feel like people who try to push me out of the forest and limit where I can go are bad people. The government has already closed lots of land in our country. There are more places I cannot go than place I can go. Why do they keep trying to close more? I see stuff about needing to save frogs and foxes. There is lots of areas already closed where frogs and foxes are safe. Why do I need to suffer so frogs and foxes get more?
