Comments: I am an Arkansas resident now but I was a resident of Sacramento for 2 years until October 2017. A close friend of mine owns a cabin in the Tamarac area, just down the mountain from the town of Bear valley. I had grown to love many parts of California by the time I took my first trip up the pass with him, and let me tell you I will never forget it. I learned to ride in the areas in question and they're my favorite memories of not only California but some of the best of my life. I believe restrictions here would limit the majesty one can only experience by jumping on a sled and blazing a trail. I believe limiting these areas would not only diminish the enjoyment and experience of people like myself, but will also be a great injustice to those amazing locals who call this mountain home.
