Comments: I've hiked and skied in the GB area for decades. Now in my 80s it offers age-appropriate opportunities for seniors. I am a retired exercise physiologist who writes to promote active (human powered) recreation. I represent the American College of Sports Medicine's Active Earth program. We promote active verses motorized recreation. It is good for health, for the climate, and the forest.

I am opposed to mountain biking in the wilderness, it is merely a way to violate the law and make room for ATVs, snowmobiles, and other motorized devices.

I look forward to the development of more wilderness for my self, my kids, grand kids and great grand children
