Comments: As a 39 year resident of Alaska, I fully support Alternative D of the Chugach Forest Plan revision. A formal wilderness designation would give the 1.9 million acre Nellie Juan-College Fjord Wilderness Study Area (WSA) the permanent roadless, wild forest, and largest collection of tide water glaciers protection it deserves.

As someone who has been to Prince William Sound for work and recreation, I urge your choice of Alternative D which would protect 97% of the WSA. This would honor the two previous recommendations made to Congress since ANILCA was passed for Wilderness designation in this special spectacular area, while still leaving the area open for study, recreation and its cultural importance to indigenous people of the area. Thank you for this opportunity to comment.
