Comments: I am NOT anti-gun. I own several guns, enjoy shooting skeet and pistol targets, and my husband and sons have many shooting medals between them. Having said that, the location for the proposed range seems a poor choice, mainly because of its proximity to the heavily used Appalachian Trail (about 1/2 mile it appears). Hikers along the trail who may be unaware of the range will be frightened, let alone having the peace and solitude they are seeking so rudely interrupted. Not only that, I see on the map that another range is less than 5 miles away. If a new range is needed, and I am not sure it is as there are many locations in the area where one may shoot, why not locate it closer to an ORV trail where noise is already present and will not present a new problem.
