Comments: As a frequent user of the Chugach National Forest for both snow machining and split boarding I believe the new plans should not have any more land taken from the motorized use. There is plenty of area in the Chugach that both motorized and non motorized can enjoy. I enjoy being able to rip up turn again after work or spending the weekend down in Seward riding Lost Lake just as much as I enjoy hiking up Tincan and being able to enjoy some fresh turns without dealing with sleds. What I'm saying is we have a good balance now where everyone can enjoy the back country. I don't think sleds should have the right to the area anymore than skiers/non motorized users should. I don't understand why we are always fighting to take more land away from motorized use. Closure is not management.

Thanks you for you time
