Comments: I am all for option b. I love the the out doors and love to share them with people that want to be in the same areas with different equipment. At the end of the day it is everyone's goals to get out side and do something fun which may be hiking,running,bikeing, or riding dirt bikes or sides by sides or snowmobiling in the chugach. I grew up with my dad riding in this range and I plan on teaching my son and daughter in all of these same areas. We pack in what we take out and then some. There are the few that abuse the privilege but please don't effect everybody. We can all share the land.
