Comments: Option A

I am both a snowboarder and snowmachiner. I use both sides of the highway every winter. There are already enough restrictions on snowmachining, more would be starting to cut the legs out from under us. Some make sense, like turnagain. Since the area is so high use, it makes sense to keep split/touring on one side, and machining on the other for safety. I fail to see in so many circumstances why areas are closed to snowmachining. How about a restriction against modified exhaust in areas (like turnagain. I would be interested to see how many snowmachiners would be in favor of that. I know myself and several other snowmachiners who hate those load exhaust modifications.

Just a thought to put out there next year.
