Comments: My name is brody and i have grown up here in alaska for 23 years and have no intentions on leaving. I ride competitively and recreationally all over the state with well over 100 uses per winter season, not to mention the summer activities. I appreciate alaskas agriculture and strive to keep the area clean and undisturbed. The regulations we have here in alaska are plenty conservative, resulting in low environmental impact. Further push to regulate is only going result in more confrontation, court meetings and in turn more dollars spent that could have been used to benefit our surroundings. We want to be able to enjoy our surroundings and alaska is some of the last terrain that isnt scrutinized heavily with regulation. There are always a few individuals that will be the spoil of it all but us alaskans are here to enjoy our outdoor lives and prosper.
