Comments: I am a lifelong Alaskan raised on the snow since 1973. My husband and I frequent the Chugach Mountains and many of the riding areas close to Anchorage and Eagle River. We are professionals in the medical field and spend most of our time off riding snowmobiles/snow machines. As an Ambassador writer for Alaska Snowrider magazine, I have had the opportunity to be an influence on the Alaskan riding community, encouraging respect and appreciation for the areas that are currently open to recreating. I believe strongly in caring for the environment in which we recreate and utilizing updated equipment that reduces emissions and our footprint in the wilderness. Access by snowmobile is a way of life in Alaska and I oppose closing any additional area to motorized use.
