Comments: I have lived in Alaska for over 34 years and I have been snowmobiling the Kenai Peninsula for more than 19 years now and with my own observations From year to year there is no environmental impact or damage to the land or its Species caused by snowmobiles ! Motorized vehicles can be used without harming our home land ! I strongly support our right to be able to use snowmobiles on the Kenai Peninsula as we have in the past , present and future! Our future generations should have the same right since there's no Scientific research that has proven that this source of motorized transportation has had any impact on the lands that are a thriving ecosystem even after decades of motorized use on them ! I use these motorized vehicles as a source of transportation on these lands to reach areas of land to harvest wild game that support my food source to survive! I Karl Deutscher life long Alaskan Strongly support the use of motorized vehicles in these public lands, national forests !!! Don't take my rights away it will hurt my way of life!

My regards to all the support of keeping public motorized use open on Kenai Peninsula!
