Comments: I have lived in Alaska for over 25 years. Since my father was stationed at Elmendorf in 1993. I enjoyed growing up being able to get to know and love the Alaskan outdoors with the wide range of activities it allows. I believe it was one of the things that helped keep me on the straight and narrow to become a productive member of society. Including outdoor adventure clubs that have some of my fondest memories growing up. I hope that there is no change in the land use here as it is a key part of recreational activity to a wide variety of cities and peoples. I believe limiting the use in anyway would be detrimental to our state. Especially the youth. I enjoy giving my kids the same memories I have from growing up doing outdoor activities all over the state including Chugach and really hope to continue to be able to do so well into the future. Hopefully even with my grandchildren. Thanks for your time.
