Comments: I know the group of Alaskans that use motorized access to the wilderness are less in number than those on foot that access the wilderness. That's why I'm worried the the louder voice will win and my family and I will be cut out of places to ride close to home. Please let's keep this fair for all involved. For what it's worth I've always been and have taught my kids to be responsible and to respect the beauty of Mother Nature.
