Comments: I oppose this project As it has the potential to limit what makes Alaska, One of the great advantages that allows our great state to stand out from others is what we actually have access to and also what we have to allow us access to all those areas. Literally watch any tourism video or documentery on alaska and watch how they travel an where they travel to. Alaska has its unique challenges as well is for the people that live here to either traveling or enjoy those areas in which there are only certain ways to be accessed I would challenge anybody to legitimately spend a couple days to understand what those challenges are by actually going and doing the activities that this could possibly limit. Find out first hand how safe and non impactful these activities really are from a common sense point of view.
