Comments: I lived in Alaska my whole life and ride snow machines every weekend in some of these very areas you plan on closing. These are is are well regulated and don't require any further stiffer regulations by people who don't live in this state and opinions shouldn't outweigh the opinions of the people that do live in this state and respectfully use these areas. I really don't think it's right to take these lands away from the people and the children of the future. Lots of these places are not even accessible without a snow machine so no one's ever gonna see them again if they're closed
