Comments: You can not be legally allowed to tell people what animals they can and can not own on their own private property. That is not ok!!! These animals are not illegal in Alaska and pose no threat to wildlife on people's private property. You can not tell someone they can not own them on their own land. I know many people that depend on these animals for meat, milk, various items made from milk and pets. This is their land and private property. It is not the governments place or any organizations place to tell them what they can or can't own. This is not ok and you can not be allowed to dictate and get away with this nonsense. Leave people and their private property alone.
