Comments: I support Alternative B. I have lived in Alaska for 15 years now between Fairbanks and I also have work across the state in Juneau, Barrow, Nome, King Cove. I am also an outdoor enthusiast. For 10 years I have accessed the Kenai Peninsula nearly 5 times a month every month of the year for recreation.

Snowmobile/Snow machine, kayaking, four wheeling, hiking, ski touring, and biking. I have never had a problem on any of the shared access trails and firmly believe there is no need to restrict access unnecessarily. I have seen mutual benefit to snowmachines creating packed trails for fat tire bikers at Placer River area. I want to continue to explore other reaches in the Chugach and believe that there are many options for people access their state. By restricting access you open the door to creating congestion elsewhere.
