Comments: I regularly use the CNF for recreation be it snow machining, hiking, mountain biking, etc. I haven't gotten out and explored certain areas of the CNF on snow machine, but I am planning to start this year. Winter in Alaska is a beautiful area, and we should not restrict it anymore than it already is! I'm saying this not from my view of recreation, but for safety! Getting rid of motorized access poses a severe safety hazard to anyone needing emergency rescue! There are times when people can not be extracted by helo and are too far in or out of reach for human or animals. This leaves wheeled and tracked vehicles as the best suited option. I love Alaska dearly and value my time in the wilderness. If anything option B is the best suited option for preserving Alaska's CNF and the safety of those like me who enjoy it.
