Comments: I am a born and raised Alaskan. I will always call it home. I serve in the military. I only get to come home maybe a 14 scattered days a year. I will be able to come home this Xmas for 5 days. Due to current events I will not be able to take leave and see Alaska again for another 2 years. In those five days I want nothing more then to be able to go snowmachining. And for the next to years that is what will keep me going. The thought of coming back and doing it again. I give all the time I can to my fellow country man and my fellow soldiers. I am the first one in and try and take most of the daily load to relive and help others. All I ever want in return is to be able to eventually go home to Alaska and live. Please do not take away what I hold dear while I am feast and fighting for it. Alaska is what true freedom is. From the endless lands to the kind people. Keep Alaska free and allow people to experience in all the amazing ways they can.
