Comments: As a life long Alaskan I have seen most parts of our state,10 years ago I had my first experience riding the Chugach on a snow machine with a group of accomplished riders. I was was blown away by the beauty of the pass and the respect that even the youngest class of riders have for the land. They appreciate the gift of the backcountry more than those who have never had exposure to this amazing part of the state. I would go out on a limb and say they care way more about preserving that experience for family, friends, and themselves for future use than those who have never had the exposure. I support option B.
