Comments: I have spent a considerable part of my last 52 years as an Alaska resident traveling in and around Prince William Sound by kayak, rowing shell, commercial fishing boat, and sailboat. I've visited many wild places in this world and Prince William Sound is unique for its abundance of wildlife and variety of habitats. The character of this special place cannot be sustained without special protection and diligence. I therefore urge you to preserve the Nellie Juan-College Fiord Wilderness Study Area with Alternative D and to include the Nellie Juan Lake area, the USFS land on Elrington Island, and the Exxon Valdez Oil Spill lands purchased for protection in the vicinity of Dangerous Passage and on Knight Island. You have an opportunity to preserve a legacy and I hope you seize it. Many thanks, Doug Fesler
