Comments: I believe that what you are trying to do is not right. Just let the environment do what it should sometimes a forest burns because it needs to. By introducing a foreign plant into the eco system you are creating a possible spread of that plant that would ruin the eco system. If you just made the roads dirt roads and kept more people to monitor fires then you would eliminate to change in the forest and let it the way it should be. A forest should grow on its own and it's been dependent for millions of years. Plus a fire every once and awhile would be good if the forest needs it it will regrow bigger and better so that our kids kids could enjoy what we did without ruining it. If you start to cut down trees and introduce other it will no longer be the same forest. Let it do its thing leave the government out of the forest let nature do its thing.
