Comments: I spent some time during the summer of 2018 working on trails 165 and 166. Trail 166 saw around 30 man hours of work mostly in clearing trail and reestablishing some sections. The trail has many old blazes that did not follow the NFS's map. That map should be updated to reflect the as is trail and the last 1/2 mile needs to be surveyed for a better route. A monument on top would also be a nice touch. Trail 165 is great for about 1.5 miles until it opens up into a hillside clearing and the trail disappears. An old blaze was found several hundred yards up the hill with no distinct path to it from where the trail is lost. There is much support locally for trail work on the Hard Creek trail down to Morgan Lake and eventually tying into Hazard Creek. I'm excited to see some resources and attention in this area!
