Comments: Save this area! There are so few places left in this country to sit inside of the natural world...to learn, heal and, as a photographer, take the best pictures of such a breath taking state. I had the great pleasure of living in Salmon, Idaho from 2001-2013 and knew immediately this was the most beautiful town I had ever lived in. This opinion formed after leaving "The Hampton's" on Long Island, New York, Connecticut & Maine. Salmon is so precious. My heart was already broken when I heard about the cobalt mine near Cougar Point campground. Save what is left! It's so important for the wildlife and health of the Salmon River. Keep it protected! Please!
