Comments: The Salmon-Challis National Forest is the largest forest in the state, and contains some of its wildest remaining unroaded areas. As the first Wilderness Ranger in the Jim McClure Jerry Peak Will, I have experienced the remote and wild nature of the mountains around the Pioneer mountains. I highly recommend protecting these areas. Idaho is truly unique in the lower 48s, with the amount of wild and relatively undiscovered landscapes. Preserving these lands will be an enduring action to keep them the way they are. As a lifelong resident of Idaho, I am tremendously proud and protective of these incredible places. Please take action to add them to the Wilderness Preservation System!
