Comments:

I totally agree with this project. The included steps for this project is exactly what has been lacking for many years to bring the forests back to a succesional balance of different age groups of timber, from mature to young growth. This type of forest management is the one that is healthy to the bear, deer, turkey, grouse, and song bird populations. The health of these species provide enjoyment for all users of our forests, hikers, hunters, bird watchers and the entire gamut of forest participants. Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to comment on this project and I hope it becomes a reality.
