Comments: There should be zero human activity (save for camping, hiking and backpacking) and no motorized traffic whatsoever on this, or ANY wilderness area. I live in a rural area frequented by ATVs, and I see how destructive they are to our Flora - which takes years to recover from their careless, unnecessary damage. I have spoken with State Parks officers who have told me how visitors on ATVs can often perform illegal and immoral acts like poaching, and how the ATV makes them exponentially more difficult to stop from performing to these acts. Leave wilderness wild - there are plenty of less impactful and less pristine lands that motorbike and ATV enthusiasts can drive around on for recreation without destroying one of our most sacred resources for their afternoon of fun.
