Comments: I have already commented yesterday and today. I apologize for not having all my comments together. Please add this to my other comments. I noticed in Alternative D, the low elevation Roadless Areas in the Crazies and other mountain ranges are not protected as wilderness. Since Alternative D is your most protective alternative, why were many of the low elevation areas not protected like the upper Shields, Smith Creek and Elk Creek on the west side of the Crazies? These low elevation areas are generally some of the most valuable to wildlife. They are also very important to water quality. Your selected Alternative B goes way to far in not protecting low elevation Roadless Areas.
