As a Native American Elder, using animal conservation and Native American harmony and balance with nature as resources for helping our youth stop both drugs and suicide.....I would like to volunteer to help develop a project to create an education project, that would also give more money and resources, as well as job opportunities to youth and college age persons (Native Americans if available in training programs, etc from their colleges and high schools) to salvage these animals that are and once were the amazing symbols of our country. We have no other country, and from eagle, to buffalo, to bears, salmon and even the coyotes and Ravens.....Native American groups could be great resources to help both the animals, and conservation efforts with fundraising and manpower. We generally have large volunteer bases from veterans and active duty or National Guard programs if notified in advance. They often have their own tools, and vehicles and in our projects have done what we estimated as three week projects in THREE HOURS. we were awed. Thank you for your consideration of my thoughts. God bless.
