Comments: Please choose Alternative D - I realize it seems more preservationist than the other alternatives, but once land is gone its gone. Once wilderness is gone its gone. Preserve it now for future generations to truly enjoy. Think more about the future than the present or quick returns. I would rather have future generations of folks remember us for saving the areas to the best we could then decimating them, or reducing their environmental value by logging or mining or just withstanding the continual use of bikes, motor bikes, four wheelers and feet.
