Comments: To whom it may concern,

I have been using and enjoying Montana's forests all of my life. I access wilderness in the fall with horses and I also spend a lot of time in the non wilderness areas Dirt biking and utv ing. In all the years of doing this, I seldom ever see another soul in the wilderness. The thousands of acres of wilderness that Montana currently has is grossly underused. There is certainly no reason that We are in need of more non motorized areas in this state.

With the evolution of Motorsports, there are more and more folks enjoying the forests than ever before. With side by side seating utvs, many handicapped folks are now able to go places they've not previously been able to see or use. Closing down more area to motorized vehicles will only further concentrate these users to fewer acres.

I urge you to NOT designate anymore non motorized areas in Montana, but rather encourage folks to better use the wilderness that we already do have established.
