Comments: I am not a Montana resident, I am a gal from the flatlands in Wisconsin, currently living in NY. My mother, who is now 90 and is also a nature lover and a lover of wonderful mountains, rivers, lakes and wilderness areas- introduced me to Montana and her National Forests many years ago. We've been able to travel together and visit, camp, hike and be awed and renewed in Montana's Gallatin NF, and along the winding route up up up through the Absarokas, and also driving and hiking into Bob Marshall Wilderness.

Please protect Montana's wilderness places like these so we, and many other Americans as well as Montana folks can continue to benefit from these gems. Say nothing of the communities in Montana that rely on these places for clean water sources, clean air, and kindly host us who come from far away with our children and grandchildren to visit them with respect and experience Wilderness for maybe the first time!

We have Loved Montana wildernesses and our times there.

Thank you National Forest Service.

Keep them safe and intact and alive!
