Comments: This wilderness must be maintained as designated wilderness! I am old now and will probably never go backpacking again, but in the past I could go to places untrammelled by man and that experience is part of me. What right do we have to rob our children or grandchildren of that opportunity. Throughout life when things get crazy I can take myself to a lake, or a mountain I have visited and find a center to carry on with complications of life. Everyone should have that right and having that space get smaller and smaller until it is no more is not the answer.

Please protect our land.
