Comments: I would like to submit my comments that no action should be taken. No more wilderness.

These areas of remote montana see little use currently and are example areas of where multiple user groups mix well together. Public recreation should mean all forms of public recreation. These areas are already surrounded by millions of acres of wilderness there is little need to make more. Many local towns survive on dollars from recreation, specifically OHV and OSV recreation. These sports are far more popular in these remote areas. Please leave the land alone and do not recommend any wilderness be formed. We OHV/OSV users are taking good care of the land. We hike, hunt, snowmobile, mountain bike in these forests. It would be a shame if our children could not do the same. No more wilderness.
