Comments: We are wondering at which point you will just ban all access to National Forests. You seem to have no consideration for individuals who are disabled, handicapped or who's health no longer allows them to walk 5 miles to access a hunting spot. Your listing road closures that impact entire areas. In addition you list conducting an Environmental Impact Study, we are assuming in reference to vehicle traffic on roads that have existed for decades. When have you done an Environmental Impact Study on cattle grazing. There are areas that are impacted far greater by cattle and ranchers then a vehicle traveling down an existing trail... I request information on how those that are not physically capable of walking great distances going to have access to areas that we presently have. Guess Trumps statement about opening access to public land was false.. Guess we need to call him on it..
