Comments: Closing more off roads to the public will be devastating to our wellbeing. This is how memories are made with our family. Teaching our kids the importance of taking care of our public lands and learning to live them as we spend our free time exploring and bonding together. Seems the world grows more hectic each day, and I am forever grateful for those dirt roads that allow me to reconnect and enjoy my life more fully. If we keep cutting off more access for recreation what is going to be left for us that respect and cherish being there? How do we get the chance to teach our children the importance if they are not allowed to be a part of these lands? Please don't close anymore roads. We need them more now than ever before.
