Comments: My comment is in regard to the locked gate at the end of Meadow Lane in Overgaard. This access point has been closed since the 2004 fire. Now there is what appears to be a private church camp about 1/4 mile back from the locked gate on Meadow Lane, effectively making this entrance a private access for the church camp. I can understand the church camp having a locked gate to the entrance of their property boundary, but why the locked gate on Meadow Lane? This prevents access to numerous trails/roads for the general public. There are too many access points to the forest being closed or otherwise restricted in the Overgaard area (Jeep Trail, Artist Draw to name a couple.) Why can't Meadow Lane gate be opened if the church camp already has a gate to lock access to their property?
