Comments: The land properly belongs to the wildlife that make it their home since time began. Cattle, sheep and other livestock make use of the land and destroy it because it was not meant to sustain them. Destroying any part of our country to benefit livestock ranchers is simply wrong. In the end it will be the ruin of all we hold in our hearts; and our beautiful wild lands will become a desert that will sustain no one and nothing. If these intentions are ever put to a national vote I believe your plans will end.
