Comments: This letter expresses my profound opposition to changing the roadless rule in order to allow logging in the Tongass Forest. While I understand the need to build a prosperous future for Alaskans I believe this future and prosperity must be built in a sustainable way. Global warming will have a dramatic and consequential impact on the Alaskan environment and economy, detrimentally affecting average Alaskans. To exacerbate this impact by opening up logging is irresponsible to present and future generations. Again, I strongly oppose this rule change and encourage you to look into alternatives for generating growth and development that protect the economy as well as our climate.
