Comments: It's inconceivable that the federal government finds it necessary to commercialize the natural treasures in the Tongass forest, which includes 165,000 acres of old-growth hemlock, cedar and spruce trees.

Clearly it should raise taxes on the 1 percent if its so desperate for $$$$$$$$$$$$$ before it sells the assets of future generations for a pittance. By lifting the Roadless Rule in this area you are critically damaging the protections of these forests; an irreplaceable tree stock working as a balance against air pollution and CO2 remediation.... for what.....to make toothpicks, 2x4s and toilet paper. SHAME ON YOU...

ALL OF YOU I hope your KIDS are proud!!
