Comments: The Roadless Rule protects habitat locations as well as sensitive cultural sites. The protection of habitat results in the protection of wildlife species. The Rule has been effective in protecting old-growth forests.

IF the Rule is lifted or weakened in anyway the results will be catastrophic - habitat and wildlife destruction, logging, off-road vehicles, an onslaught of humanity in protected lands. Once lost these precious resources will be lost forever.

The current Administration is misguided and is failing to protect our water, air and land - the wanton giveaway to corporations must stop.
